

The Time I Got Two Pet Bunnies

One warm spring afternoon, about a year ago me and my dad were driving in his shiny black truck, and I was looking for the PERFECT pet. We stopped at a pet store, and I was thinking “what pet should I get?”

We walked in, then I saw it... “BUNNIES!!” I exclaimed.

“Dad can we get a bunny PLEASE!!” I said.

“Are you sure? Bunnies are hard work.” I thought for a moment.

“Yes!” I told my dad.

“Alright I will get the worker. Wait here.” I was as excited as a dog spotting a squirrel! I jumped for joy, and I squealed quietly. As my dad got the worker I looked at the bunnies there were two options: a floppy ear bunny or two mini rex bunnies.

I thought “which one should I get??” After a moment my dad came back, I had made my choice!

My dad asked me, “Which one are you going to get?”

“The two bunnies!” One of the bunnies looked like Peter rabbit, the other bunny was white with brown splotches. I pet them. They were as soft as clouds. I fell deep in love with them. “We finally have bunnies in the family!” I told my dad

“Yep! We sure do.” My dad responded. “Do you promise to do your best to take care of them??” My dad asked me.

“OF COURSE I WILL!!” I exclaimed.

“We are going to give one of the bunnies to your brother, which one do you want?” I thought for what felt like a millisecond.

“I want the bunny with brown splotches.” After that I named my bunny.... Marshmallow! We went and picked up my brother then suddenly we were there! “That was quick.” I thought. My brother came into the truck.

My dad asked him “would you like to have your own bunny?”

My brother said “sure, I like bunnies.” and then we surprised him! He looked at her and he named her Biscuit. Then we bought the essentials and set their cage up. First we put the flooring down. Next we put the toys in. After that we put the treats in the toys. In addition we put the food bowl in and put the water source in. Finally we put the food and water in. After that we played with them.

“ I never want to put them away!!” I was still happy from getting the bunnies. I was smiling, I was giggling. I had to put them away and went upstairs. “Bye Marshmallow and Biscuit! See you in an hour probably!” I said while laughing.

Ever since then I have been thankful for my bunnies. In my opinion I have the best dad ever. I hope we get another pet soon.
